

Initial look – water study resources

I am biased as hell from the start. Water must be managed as a local, regional, and global “commons”.

New Mexico Acequia Association

New Mexico Acequia Association home page

Paula García, Executive Director: Lamorena@lasacequias.org

Utton Center

Water Matters! 2015 edition A document to help legislators deal with water policy.

Water Matters: Why We Need to Act Now to Save Our Most Critical Resource. Edited by Lojan, Tara. See Chapter 13, “Acequias: Water Democracy in the US” by Paula Garcia

“A Vision for New Mexico’s Water” – My View column in Santa Fe New Mexican by García, Paula. Published 2019-01-12.

Acequia: Water Sharing, Sanctity, and Place. Rodriquez, Sylvia (2006)

Enduring Acequias: Wisdom of the Land, Knowledge of the Water. Arellano, Juan Estevan (2014)

iNo Se Vende! \(Not for Sale\) Water as a Right of the Commons. Matthews, Kay (2018)

“In the Water-Scarce Southwest, an Ancient Irrigation System Disrupts Big Agriculture” by Parks, Shoshi. In Yes! magazine, 2017-11-03.

Dividing New Mexico’s Waters 1700-1912. Baxter, John O. (1997)

Hydrological, ecological, land use, economic, and sociocultural evidence for resilience of traditional irrigation communities in New Mexico, USA. Hydrology and Earth System Sciences Discussions 11(2) (2014)